Bonjour

J'espère que vous allez bien !

Déjà parlant de la plateforme Discord c'est vraiment difficile dans notre pays et personnellement j'aimerais que l'on communique sur une autre plateforme tel que Facebook car c'est la plus utilisée ici en RDC 🇷🇨....

Deuxième ce que nous aimerions mettre en place dans notre pays etc ...

Perso j'aimerais qu'on crée vraiment un réseau et qu'au delà de la plateforme qu'on crée aussi un mouvement de jeunes qui se rassemblent, qui lancent des initiatives et qui prennent action pour des changements positifs dans notre pays et surtout menés plus d'actions et aussi par l'appui et l'accompagnement de la fondation Higher Education for Good

Et aussi organiser une séance de coaching avec les ambassadeurs en ligne via Google meet et pourquoi pas en présentiel aussi !

Elizabeth Basiita organized an online debate on mental health.

DISCUSSION

What is the first word that comes to your mind when you hear someone say, "mental health"? Why?

R.S "The ability for me to choose. The ability to manage my life in a freeway. The ability to manage my life and what I want to do. Is what comes to mind when we mention mental health. The reason why is that I feel like when one is has a very good mental health, you can choose what you want, you are able to manage time, stress, and everything around you."

D.M "Depression, because I was in it in a while."

E.C "Physiological damage. Why: because it affects how one thinks and functions emotionally in day-to-day life."

G.C "Anxiety...Because of the fear and worry of what will happen and how it will happen."

D.K "Death...because mental health deals with emotions and thoughts which can lead to suicide or death out of depression."

M.M.S "What comes to my mind is one not being able to think about productive things more like a mental health disorder to the extent where you think about nothing but what's bothering you it's really disturbing. And why: It's because I have gone through it before."

A.S "When we mention the word "mental health," the first thing that often comes to mind is the concept of psychological well-being. This is because mental health refers to our overall state of emotional, cognitive, and social well-being, and how we think, feel, and behave in response to life's challenges. To WHY: The emphasis on psychological well-being is also because mental health issues are often associated with symptoms such as anxiety, depression, and other emotional and behavioral disorders that affect our ability to function in daily life. These conditions can be caused by a range of factors, including genetics, life experiences, and environmental factors."

What about you?

H.K "Depression...Cause when mental health is not maintained, one can begin to feel useless and unsafe in places they should feel most at home."

Advocating for mental health important because of the following:

1) Stigma Reduction: Advocacy efforts help reduce the stigma associated with mental health issues. By raising awareness and promoting open discussions, you can challenge misconceptions and create a more supportive and inclusive society.

2) Early Intervention: Advocacy early identification and intervention for mental health concerns. By educating people about the signs and symptoms of mental health issues, you can help individuals seek help sooner, leading to better outcomes and recovery.

3) Empowerment and Resilience: Advocacy empowers individuals to take charge of their mental well-being. By providing knowledge, resources, and support, you can help people develop resilience, coping skills, and self-care strategies to maintain good mental health.

4) Holistic Well-being: Mental health is an integral part of overall well-being. By advocating for mental health, you promote the importance of a holistic approach to health that considers both the mind and body.

5) Youth Development: Focusing on mental health advocacy among youth is particularly important as it sets the foundation for a healthier future generation. By addressing mental health needs early on, you contribute to the development of emotionally resilient and mentally well-equipped individuals.

Advocating for mental health is crucial to create a society that values and supports the mental well-being of all ages. By setting and achieving these goals, us as YouthTalks Zambia can contribute to building awareness, reducing stigma, and improving access to mental health resources and support systems.

As Youth Talks ambassadors, we can help advocate for mental health in Zambia in many several ways including:

1) Spread awareness: Use your platform to educate people about mental health and the importance of seeking help when needed. You can do this through social media campaigns, community outreach events, and other forms of public awareness.

2) Encourage help-seeking behavior: Encourage people to seek help when they are struggling with mental health issues. This can include providing information about available resources and support services.

3) Advocate for policy change: Advocate for policies that support mental health services and resources in Zambia. This can include advocating for increased funding for mental health services, better access to mental health care in rural areas, and increased mental health education in schools.

4) Support mental health organizations: Support the work of mental health organizations in Zambia by volunteering, donating, or promoting their services.

Which organizations, groups communities or universities in Zambia that advocate for mental health? What do they do? And how can we, as YouthTalks Ambassadors help?

- At universities. Levy Mwana Uni has a mental health association. They hold multiple functions, creating platforms for vulnerability. Apex Mental Health Club. Tiyonge Organization (run by a student, newer community). Event in July at Levy called "open up."
- Railway adolescent youth friendly space. Where I'm a vice chairperson, I'm one of the people that talk about mental issues even.
- Exousia Chanda as a personal counselor available.
- Mental Health Users Network of Zambia (MHUNZA) - This is a user-led organization that seeks to promote the rights of people with mental health problems in Zambia. They provide support, education, and advocacy for people with mental health issues.
- University of Zambia (UNZA) Psychology Clinic - This is a clinic run by the Department of Psychology at UNZA that offers counseling and therapy services to the public, including those with mental health problems.

- Chainama Hills College Hospital - This is a public psychiatric hospital in Lusaka, Zambia that provides mental health services to people of all ages.
- Zambia Association of Youth Organizations (ZAYO) - This is a network of youth-led organizations that seeks to empower young people in Zambia. They have programs that focus on mental health awareness and advocacy.

What goals can we set and achieve this month as YouthTalks Zambia to advocate for the mental health of all ages?

- Create mental health awareness, especially among parents with teenagers. Make help available at any time to the youths, and hopefully include counselors to aid in mental health breakdowns. Try to talk about suicide to reduce the stigmatization of those who have suicidal thoughts and attempts.
- Have an outreach to reach out to the people on the street (street children). They really need us. Had talks with them with my group but you know. A lot is needed.
- Combat Loneliness-A lot of people feel isolated and feel like no one loves them due to spending much of the time.
- Daily affirmations.... It's important to set a goal to let yourself know what good qualities you have and begin to enjoy doing what you do. Also doing so immediately you start your day so that everything else you are to do can have a positive mindset and yield positive results.
- finding an initiative to educate people of different ages on mental health or collaborate with individuals and organizations that promote mental health awareness.
- Promote campaigns on mental health, offer support to the less privileged.
- To advocate for mental health, as YouthTalks Zambia we could conduct a mental health awareness campaign on social media and collaborate with mental health organizations to promote their services and advocate for better mental health policies and funding. It's important to advocate for mental health because mental health issues can have serious negative impacts on individuals and communities, and by raising awareness and promoting access to mental health services, YouthTalks Zambia can help to reduce the stigma surrounding mental health and improve the well-being of individuals and communities.
- We can make a movement of where we spread the news not only on social media, but we try to at least recruit people from this institution to help spread the news in their schools. The reason why I'm suggesting this is because if we recruit more people to join us spread the word, we will reach out to a lot of people in no time of course with a reasonable amount time.
- Awareness Campaigns: Conduct awareness campaigns through various channels, such as social media, community events, and school presentations. Educate people about the importance of mental health, common mental health issues, and available resources for support.
- Workshops and Seminars: Organize workshops and seminars on mental health topics, targeting different age groups. Provide information on stress management, coping mechanisms, self-care, and mental health first aid. Invite mental health professionals and experts to share their knowledge and experiences.
- Partnerships and Collaborations: Establish partnerships with local organizations, schools, colleges, and community centers that share a similar focus on mental health. Collaborate on joint initiatives, share resources, and amplify the impact of your advocacy efforts.
- Online Support Resources: Create a comprehensive online resource hub that includes articles, videos, and downloadable materials on mental health. Ensure that the information is accessible and relevant to people of all ages. Include information on helplines and support services available in your area.
- Peer Support Networks: Facilitate the creation of peer support networks, both online and offline, where individuals can connect with others who have similar experiences. Encourage sharing of stories, offer a safe space for discussion, and provide guidance on seeking professional help when needed.
- Policy Advocacy: Engage with policymakers, government representatives, and influential stakeholders to advocate for improved mental health policies and services. Emphasize the need for increased funding, better access to mental health care, and the integration of mental health education into school curricula.

SDG ACTION WEEKEND: 16TH

Youth: "Torchbearers For The SDGs: Meaningful Youth Engagement & the 2030 Agenda"

- When we talk about gender equality, we have to look at it from all the SDGs lens, because all the SDGs are interconnected.
- We need to review what we did so far and look at a different way to strategize.
- Including young people with all their diversity requires the focus on all their differences and dealing with it.
- There is a need for an ecosystem that actually enables people with disabilities, we need to move the conversation from what we should do to how we should do it.
- Funding was always a problem and it remains especially when it comes to the refugees.
- Language also remains a barrier to refugees.
- The importance of prioritizing accessibility, intersectionality, and disability.
- Commitment without actions has shown that it didn't deliver specifically when it comes to people with disability.
- An inclusive future is built on recognizing everyone's potential.
- The voices of youth, especially the ones from marginalized groups have to be at the heart of a debate.
- Intersectionality is a reality lived by so many people and it's not only a concept to be discussed inside the UN.
- We are all together facing a challenging complex, there is a need for collective actions and partnerships, with inclusive approaches in order to approach today's problems.
- The involvement of youth can't be an event, it should be a habit and a pattern.
- The participation of youth is a very valuable resource, with their challenging mentality and their ability to make a change.
- Always remember the people who are not in the room, those who can't be here but they are doing a lot on their level.
- Diversity can be challenging in many cases but it is always also an asset.
- A lot of youth are doing a lot on the local level, even without knowing that there is an SDG summit happening, and they are only thinking about the next day.
- Knowledge and experience, advocacy, and governance are keys to address climate change.
- Young people are not there to tick boxes, they are there to be involved in the process and taking actions.

THE GLOBAL REPORT IS OUT!

The results of our consultations during the YOUTH TALKS campaign is finally published. This is a huge success and stepping stone for us young leaders in making our world better for us and the future generations.... See more

Youth Talks, 2022-2023 edition

A questionnaire with a special focus on multi-modal communication and multilingualism.

Over a number of months, from autumn 2022 to spring 2023, youth from all over the world, between 18 and 28 years of age, were given the opportunity to take part in the Youth Talks consultation on the <https://youthtalks.org> platform, which was available in English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Arabic, and Chinese*

They were offered two ways of sharing their contributions:

- Individually, by responding to the consultation online (with written responses, voice recordings or images)
- Collectively, by taking part in one of the activities organized by the Youth Talks ambassadors (see next: "The Youth Talks ambassadors")

* The results of the report are available in English and French only.

The Youth Talks ambassadors

From October 2022 to May 2023, nearly 2,200 young people volunteered to be ambassadors for Youth Talks. Their role was to talk about the initiative with their families and friends as well as to their community (academic, environmental, professional, etc.), encourage young people to take part, and organize activities that would offer more participatory ways of contributing throughout the consultation. The ambassadors were able to access tools that would help them promote the initiative, social activities, and then report back on them. They also had a special discussion channel where they could get together and talk to each other (and to members of the project team). Online training and feedback sessions were also organized. In just three months, a solid community of actively engaged young people from different countries met, youth going on to play a significant part in reaching thousands of people all over the world.

The structure of this database reflects our commitment to promoting transparent and efficient collaboration, highlighting essential resources for in-depth analysis of the data collected during the consultation.

We therefore invite you to explore this database, which is intended to be a pragmatic and flexible tool reflecting Youth Talks' initiative to create an environment conducive to collaborative and informed research.

Les jeunes sont notre avenir 🙌
Lors de mon intervention à la formation qu'organise la communauté u report kalamu , j'ai eu l'immense plaisir de faire la présentation des résultats de notre consultation inédite en tant qu'ambassadeur Youth talk en RDC .

Et pour cette première édition nous avons reçu au total : 46 048 participants dans 212 pays et territoires.

Il sied de retenir que Youth Talks est une consultation mondiale dédiée aux jeunes de 15 à 29 ans. Parti du postulat que "l'éducation supérieure ne permet plus d'équiper les jeunes pour relever les défis de leur temps", Youth Talks propose aux jeunes du monde entier, à travers cinq grands volets, de parler de leurs envies, de leurs aspirations et de leurs valeurs.

INTRODUCTION

At Youth Talks, we are dedicated to fostering youth empowerment. That's why we have initiated an ambassador program in conjunction with the consultation. This network is open to anyone aged 18 to 29 aiming to enhance the visibility of young people and make a positive impact within their community.

We greatly appreciate the trust and commitment shown by many who have joined our network of young, engaged, and inspiring ambassadors.

Youth empowerment begins with you, our ambassadors, by providing you with the tools and resources needed to initiate and lead actions. Through our array of activities, challenges, training, and close communication, our aim is to assist you in personal growth and developing skills beneficial for both your professional and personal life. Our goal is to empower you to become change-makers and equip you with the necessary tools to further enhance your civic engagement.

To go even further, we have initiated a financial support program tailored for you and dedicated to activities funding.

This financial support is available to assist you in developing your initiatives and making an even stronger impact on the youth in your community. We encourage you to be creative, entrepreneurial, and innovative in your actions. It is through your mobilization and commitment that Youth Talks can become the platform for the youth it aspires to be.

The financial assistance will be granted upon application and meets very specific criteria, which are explained below. We invite you to review them before initiating any requests or expenses on behalf of our initiative.

We are proud to have you on our side and look forward to seeing the projects and ideas you will develop.

Helo everyone, Today i am presenting Youth Talks to you.

What is Youth Talks?

Youth Talks is a global initiative dedicated to amplifying the voices of young people around the world. Launched in 2022 by the Higher Education for Good Foundation (HE4G) and the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), it aims to:

1. Give Youth a Platform: Youth Talks provides a unique online platform for young people of all backgrounds to share their perspectives, opinions, and aspirations for the future. Through surveys, online discussions, and video submissions, they can express their concerns and hopes on a range of issues.
2. Gather Insights: By gathering data and analyzing the shared experiences of young people, Youth Talks seeks to gain valuable insights into the challenges and opportunities facing different regions and communities. This data can then be used to inform policy decisions and program development at local, national, and international levels.
3. Raise Awareness: By putting a spotlight on the diverse voices and experiences of youth, Youth Talks seeks to raise awareness about their concerns and potential. This can help to bridge the gap between generation and encourage more inclusive and youth-centered decision-making.
4. Encourage Action: Youth Talks is not just about collecting data. It also aims to empower young people to become active agents of change in their communities and the world. By providing them with tools and resources, Youth Talks encourages them to advocate for their needs, participate in decision-making processes, and work towards building a brighter future.

Here are some key aspects of Youth Talks:

- Global Reach: Youth Talks operates in over 212 countries and territories,
- engaging with 45 000 young people from diverse backgrounds and cultures.
- Thematic Focus: Each year, Youth Talks focuses on specific themes that are relevant to young people globally. Some past themes include climate change, education, and entrepreneurship.
- Data-Driven Approach: Youth Talks uses data and research to inform its work and provide evidence-based recommendations to policymakers and stakeholders.
- Youth Talks collaborates with 55 partners
- Youth Talks Works with 2300 ambassadors worldwide

Overall, Youth Talks is a powerful initiative that empowers young people to be heard and to actively shape their own future. By providing them with a platform to share their voices and ideas, Youth Talks is helping to build a more inclusive and sustainable world for all.

I am so honored with this request, and I'll send a photo right away. I have absolutely loved being a YT Ambassador, and I truly appreciate what started the initiative in the first place. I pray to meet you all soon

Elizabeth Basita

Hi Chloe,

Yes, of course! I'm very excited to start this chapter. I agree! I think it would give the youth here a chance to voice their opinions and have an impact on others. As a third-world country, teenagers and young adults here don't usually have the opportunity to take charge or make a difference in their future so it would honestly make me so happy to see them have the opportunity and use it for good.

Thanks for the good question, Some schools in Uganda provide education which is worth to the price, Schools which have embraced quality equitable education are doing better, i have seen learners who have many skills by the end of every education level and to me i feel it's worth to t...

The issue with the truth in this is that the government is not going to sanction those which don't provide quality education because most of those schools are theirs. This leads to an unfair competition when looking for employment and when providing output because the output made by those who are not taught properly is poor and they are the only ones willing to go back into teaching since their qualifications for other jobs are lacking which leads to yet another substandard teaching for a new set of children.

So guys i have questions. So what exactly are we gonna be doing?

Youths dominate the biggest percentage of the world population however, we as the young men and women face a lot of challenges but have no solutions and no one to tell so, Youth Talks powered by the Higher Education 4 Good Foundation has provided a free platform to address these issues and amplify those who are limited.

Hi Chloé!!

I hope you are doing wonderfully.

I'm Dani from Mexico City. I have just joined the what's app group from youth talks and received the email with the welcoming.

I saw youth talks and got really interested in what you are doing with it and would love to know more about how it works and how the community is built.

Just a little bit about myself, I am currently 25 and on my way on pursuing my dreams. I am working on a really awesome project that is my life's passion looking to impact millions of lives. And in a way also looking to built up a community of awesome and like minded people.

In a way is the reason I wanted to join as well to be able to connect with people that are highly driven to do great things and impact others... sooo yeahh haha I would love to hear from you and see how could I get involved in the community.

Have a lovely day!!

Dani :)

Siphehile Youth Talks - South Africa

Soooo, im Siphehile from Johannesburg, Soweto at Protea glen. but please call me Sihle 20:05

I think with this new curriculum once implemented everything is going to change, and Unesco is advising countries about long-life education, with this education is going to be valued highly. Gratitude to NGOs supporting Universal Education in Uganda, like Educate , Teach For Uganda, Building Tomorrow etc These NGOs are helping learners with soft skills, like soap-making, chalk-making, and many others and these are helping learners to add values.

Do you feel that your education is worth the price in Uganda? Why or why not?

Thanks for the good question, Some schools in Uganda provide education which is worth to the price, Schools which have embraced quality equitable education are doing better, I have seen learners who have many skills by the end of every education level and to me I feel it's worth to the price and some learners end up taking up those skills as their career pathways, in schools where they teach vocation skills like welding, carpentry, building and construction, bakery, and other skills which contribute to long life learning makes me feel it's worth whoever, Most of our school don't teach practical skills which me feel it's unworthy monetary, time and effort wise.

Do you feel that your education is worth the price in Uganda? Why or why not?

Hello, I'm sorry I joined late.

I'm sorry that I can only follow the discussion on WhatsApp.

In Uganda, there is a great difference between the price of education in private schools compared with government schools.

This makes teachers deliver their knowledge to the extent that relates to their pay.

Teachers in private schools tend to be more committed because most owners of those schools pay them well, unlike the government schools where teachers are paid less and this affects their deliveries.

The cost of education in Uganda is therefore reliant on the deliveries of teachers in their various schools.

Do you feel that your education is worth the price in Uganda? Why or why not?

Not at all.

After spending almost 20years in school, you later realize it was a waste of time. After completing high school, you literally don't qualify to do anything to generate income, unless you have connections.

The best you can do is gstudieschnical studies and get some skills, then society will consider you as someone who has gone to school.

Moneywise, it's not worth it also. Schools have been hiking their fees over time but the quality never changes. We are still leaning the same things our parents studied, but at a higher price

What does Youth Talks mean to you ?

What does Youth Talks mean to you ?

Youth Talks for me is an opportunity for young individuals around the world to contribute in creating change for our future. In the events that are currently happening in our countries, it is important for the youth to be able to express themselves - their ideas, criticism, and solutions in minds to help nation leaders create a more meaningful and sustainable decision for the future. Also, youth talks is not all about us, the youth, talking or conversing; but also it is about listening. We listen to our fellow youth leaders - learn from them and collaborate with them.

What does it bring to your life to be a Youth Talks ambassador ?

Being a youth talks ambassador is an honor and a personal life goal of mine. Ever since I was exposed to community engagement, I really wanted to be the voice of the voiceless - especially the children. With the opportunities given by Youth Talks, I was able to share the stories of these children whom I engaged with to my fellow youth and student leaders in the country during our conversational workshop. Also, as a pre-law student, being an ambassador strengthened by passion and people skills to be an effective public servant in the next few years.

What initiatives other than Youth Talks are you involved in personally? (other associations, your school club, NGOs, politics...)

I have been busy with different consultations, policy drafting, and researching this past few months with my organization. We've conducted dialogues and consultations at UNESCO SDG4 Youth Network for the Youth Declaration on Transforming Education. I've also shared some statements with the Education 2030. Recently, I co-head a general assembly of 120 young Thomasian student leaders of our university championing the UN SDGs through Peace Education. Currently, we are preparing for a community development project for next year with some of our partner communities.

What would you like to set up for Youth Talks edition 2?

I would like to know the knowledge, understandings, and participation in the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals.

What does Youth Talks mean to you ?

For me Youth Talks aims to address youth needs, by hearing from youths in order to know what they want how they want it and when to do it. Globally Youth Talks want to get youth involved in the building of a sustainable education.

What does it bring to your life to be a Youth Talks ambassador ?

Although it is not an easy task, being a Youth Talks ambassador brought to me pride, in a positive way. I personally feel like I am being involved in a mission of making the world a better place especially for youth of this generation and generation that will follow.

What initiatives other than Youth Talks are you involved in personally? (other associations, your school club, NGOs, politics...)

I am very into climate change, I am a cofounder of a Youth movement that works toward tackling climate issues.

What would you like to set up for Youth Talks edition 2?

If possible, Youth shall certify their ambassadors this would give to ambassadors the feelings of membership. In addition, set a direct reward to every activity that an ambassador holds such as a badge or a mark. And at the end of edition those marks would play a role in a final reward.

What does Youth Talks mean to you ?

Youth Talks means to me a network of young people which allows them to express themselves, to make their voices heard. It is an effective means for young people aged 15 to 29 from all over the world, regardless of country, skin color or culture; allows them to give their opinions on what is currently happening, their fears and the changes they want to see.

What does it bring to your life to be a Youth Talks ambassador ?

Being a Youth Talks Ambassador gives me great experience in my professional career. Not only that this experience allowed me to acquire technical skills (creativity and others) but also much more general skills linked to the attitude to work and be supervised remotely. She also gave me a reference as Ambassador.

What initiatives other than Youth Talks are you involved in personally? (other associations, your school club, NGOs, politics...)

Apart from being a Youth Talk Ambassador, I am a climate activist in several youth networks for the fight against climate change among others: Greenpeace Africa, Africa Youth Mobilisation for COP, Global Youth Biodiversity Network and Green Leaders Academy Ambassador.

What would you like to set up for Youth Talks edition 2?

Being a green blogger and content creator, I would like to create content for Youth Talks edition 2.

What does Youth Talks mean to you ?

What does Youth Talks mean to you ?

pour moi Youth talk est un projet a long terme et pour rester dans l'optique youth talk est le début de quelque chose .

What does it bring to your life to be a Youth Talks ambassador ?

pour moi Youth Talk m'a aider a me connecter avec les jeunes du monde , connaitre les attentes des autres jeunes comme moi et aussi je me sens appartenir a une équipe en etant dans ce projet .

What initiatives other than Youth Talks are you involved in personally? (other associations, your school club, NGOs, politics...)

a part Youth Talk je suis aussi le chargé des activités de la communauté U-REPORT Kinshasa et je suis au parlement de jeunes de kinshasa dont je suis membre et aussi chargé de communication du parlement et je suis aussi Community Manager de la communauté U-Report Ngaliema dont je gère la présence en ligne de ladite communauté et je suis aussi membre sympathisant de YALI RDC .

What would you like to set up for Youth Talks edition 2?

pour la deuxième édition , je pense qu'on doit juste booster les choses en organisant les activités d'ensemble et pourquoi pas de forum en présentiel et en ligne et aussi ajouter d'autres activités sur la liste tel que les formations etc pour l'autonomisation des jeunes .

What does Youth Talks mean to you ?

Youth Talks is a consultation of young people where social issues affecting this fragile populace are addressed. The most important thing about this is the way these issues are addressed. When the concerns expressed by young people have been sampled, recommendations are matched up with external references like the UN's SDGs to ensure that these matters have been addressed in the best possible way.

What does it bring to your life to be a Youth Talks ambassador ?

Being a Youth Talks Ambassador affords me the privilege of being actively involved in Youth-centric policies, conversations; advocacy for the youth; helping young people overcome pitfalls which I couldn't avoid. It makes me believe that the youth are not just a reconcilable figure but that we're part of the larger community and above all, our opinions matter.

What initiatives other than Youth Talks are you involved in personally? (other associations, your school club, NGOs, politics...)

I am a volunteer in AdvoKC's Young Champions programme in Nigeria, where we are being trained in advocating for voters' rights, promise tracking, evaluation and monitoring of elected officials. This is in a bid to encourage accountability and transparency in governance.

I have also been recently admitted into the McKinsey Forward Learners' Programme.

What would you like to set up for Youth Talks edition 2?

In Youth Talks Edition 2, I would want us to advance beyond merely assessing or otherwise sampling the opinions and interests of young people. I want us to raise awareness about identified youth issues through campaigns, social media; then develop evidence-based policy recommendations stemming from the research data on young people. Subsequently, I want us to seek sustainable solutions that have a lasting impact i.e. capacity building, skills development in order to empower these young people to be active agents of change.
